

SCABAL
A PASSION FOR CLOTH

ORCHID

SUPER 150'S

MADE IN ENGLAND

For the tailoring connoisseur, a fine suiting is always a treat for the senses – beautiful to look at and wonderful to the touch. Now Scabal is adding a third sensory dimension – with its gentle but exotic aroma, its new and exclusive ORCHID quality will entrance the olfactory system too.

Produced at the company's own mill in Huddersfield, the English centre for superb worsted suitings, ORCHID carries in its fine Super 150's merino fibres an essence derived from the tropical flowering plant. Several years of research and careful development work have gone in to the creation of this unique cloth, which will intrigue and attract the most refined suiting aficionados.

The all-important natural characteristics of fine wool have been enhanced thanks to the legendary expertise of the spinning, weaving and finishing specialists at Scabal's West Yorkshire mill. The discreet scent derived from the colourful and fragrant orchid has complemented a marvellous and stimulating new suiting fabric. ORCHID is imbued with the fragrance of supreme luxury.
